West Kentucky Delegates Fail To Alter Bureau Policy

By BILL POWELL, Sun-Democrat Roving Editor
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19—A move by West Kentuckians to put the Kentucky Farm Bureau directly in favor of sales or lease of burley tobacco acreage allotments was defeated during the closing session of the KFBF Golden Anniversary convention.

A motion to change the Farm Bureau stand on the controversial issue was made by Leonard Grief, president of the McCracken Farm Bureau.

Leaders in the drive which fell short by a wide margin also included Henry Baumer Jr., immediate past president of the McCracken bureau, and Leon Toon, of McCracken. Those siding with the McCracken delegates included Leon Chambers and Noble Cox of Callaway County.

The resolution the delegates sought to pass would have been one stating that the Farm Bureau favors leasing burley allotments provided the acreage provision is eliminated.

Burley growers with tobacco bases of a half acre or less are not subject to the periodic cuts made in burley acreage as a means of holding down production.

The Farm Bureau favors "cross the board" cuts for all growers regardless of the size of their allotments.

The Farm Bureau went on record today as opposing sale of burley bases "as long as we are operating under the present program."

It was the aim of the West Kentuckians to bring about Farm Bureau favor of sale of lease of bases without regard to the controversial minimum acreage issue. In Kentucky, 57 per cent of the burley growers have bases of a half-acre or less.

Farm Bureau delegates were warned Tuesday afternoon at the annual tobacco conference that it had little or no chance to win congressional elimination of the minimum-acreage provision at the present time.

The McCracken resolution called for sale or lease of burley allotments up to five acres within a county, with limitations dealing with total acreage.

It also asked that no base be required for beginning growers.

The resolution was branded as ambiguous by Howard Cleveland of Henry County, a large grower. Bob Broadbent, of Trigg County, new director of the Farm Bureau from the First District, said he thought the Farm Bureau should fight for passage of such a measure.

Cleveland countered with a claim that lease or sale of bases would only bring about greater burley production and thereby bring new federal acreage cuts to the growers.

The debate soon developed into a small grower versus the large grower, but this aspect was denied by Federation

Wife Says She Doesn't Know Cooper's Governorship Plans

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Mrs. John Sherman Cooper, while saying her husband would not retire from public life in 1972, insisted Tuesday she did not know if he would run for governor. Cooper could never "retire and sit on the beach," she take on a diplomatic job after leaving the Senate.

But, on the other hand, his "first interest" upon entering politics was to be governor, and "his heart is here" in Kentucky, Mrs. Cooper commented. She acknowledged that she herself has received many calls from Kentuckians urging Cooper to run for governor.

While saying she would like to live in Frankfort, Mrs. Cooper said that "I like it wherever I am."

Mrs. Cooper said she was in Kentucky to speak to the Farm Bureau Wives Monday night and to the Business and Professional Women's Club in the Somerset area.

Lodging Tax Measure Gains Added Support

By CARL MANNING
Sun-Democrat Staff Writer

House Speaker Julian Carroll's proposed lodging tax bill gained support Friday for the 1970 state legislature from Rep. David Carter and Sen. Tom Garrett.

The bill, which is presently being worked on by Carroll and his staff, will, in essence, allow cities to impose a lodging tax on motels and hotels.

Amounting to about five per cent, the tax would be paid by the person using the rooms. Carroll said this is the only way a city can get additional revenue without actually taxing its citizens.

Commenting on the bill, Carter today said that he "would go along with Carroll on the bill." He said he realizes that cities such as Paducah need additional revenue and this would not impose a great hardship on the city's residents.

He added that he did not think a five per cent tax would be so great as to drive away motel and hotel business.

Carter said he agrees with

Mrs. Cooper told an informal gathering of newsmen at the governor's mansion that her husband "would like to work somewhere," especially in government after he leaves the Senate. Cooper could never "retire and sit on the beach," she said following a luncheon engagement with Mrs. Louie B. Nunn at the mansion.

She said she felt Cooper wanted to complete his current term in the Senate because "if he campaigns for something, he likes to finish it out." Since his term runs through 1972, that would eliminate him as a candidate for governor in November, 1971.

Republicans frequently talk dreamily of running Cooper, a proven top GOP vote-getter, for governor in 1971 in order to achieve two successive Republican administrations in Kentucky for the first time in history.

A similar lodging tax has proven successful in the city of Louisville, Carter noted.

Garrett, also agreeing with Carroll, said that he was "in general agreement" with the proposal.

However, he refused to state flatly that he would sponsor this measure if it came to the senate from the house. "I might want to see some minor changes made in it before the senate acted on it," he said.

Garrett noted that Carroll's plan offers "a legitimate source of revenue for cities." He pointed out that the 1968 state legislature passed a bill which permits cities to enact such a tax for "tourist promotion."

Carroll's bill, Garrett said, apparently would remove the tourism promotion restriction from the tax laws and permit cities to use the lodging tax revenue "for any purpose."

Carroll said Thursday that he feels that a city should have a definite purpose in mind for the revenue received from such a tax. He also said that the money should be divided between the city and county with the city receiving the greater share.

Economic Scope Of UTM Important To Local Area

By Jim Emissions

The annual payroll at The University of Tennessee at Martin will put more than $4,350,000 into circulation in Weakley County and its four surrounding counties during the 1969-70 academic year.

According to "Tennessee Statistical Abstracts 1969," the average median family income for Weakley, Gibson, Obion, Carroll and Henry counties is $2,898. On this basis, it may be assumed that the $4,350,000 put into the economy by UTM's payroll will support approximately 1,503 families or 3.8 per cent of the number of families in the combined five-county area.

In Weakley County alone UTM's payroll will provide an average family income for more than 1,507 families or 22 per cent of the number of families throughout the county.

Of the 1,024 persons employed at UTM during October, 1969, 693 were considered full-time equivalent employees including 43 administrative, 210 instructional, and 440 clerical and supporting personnel. There were 505 part-time employees of which 426 were students representing approximately ten per cent of the entire student enrollment.

U-T Martin itself is a great economic asset to Northwest Tennessee through expenditures for goods and services. For example, $7.8 million has recently been spent for design, materials, and labor on a vast construction program on the UTM campus. Much of this amount is spent in the community.

A recent estimate by the UTM business office estimates that currently UTM has 350 telephones, uses 3,900,000 sheets of writing paper, buys 8,070 dozen eggs and 144,854 pounds of meat, uses 14,181,396 kilowatt hours of electricity, 47,346,200 gallons of water, 49,000 gallons of diesel fuel oil, and 4,000 tons of coal.

Culturally, UTM is important to Northwest Tennessee. The resident faculty and staff, students, and visitors attending meetings on the UTM campus contribute richly to the cultural life of the area. Programs in the fine arts—music, dramatics, and art—guest lecturers and other cultural activities at UTM are enjoyed not only by the students and faculty but also by the entire area. Faculty members in fulfilling their normal off-campus obligations in the community through church, school, and civic functions contribute to the vitality of the entire area.

Recreationally, UTM contributes greatly to the lives of citizens of Northwest Tennessee. The University's football and basketball teams and the wide array of intercollegiate sports gives the area recreational opportunities which not only appeal to the local residents but also bring many visitors to the area and money into the economy.

Whiplash Backlash

PERTH, Australia

Other forestry workers were showing 18-year-old Robert Widdup the bushman's whiplash method of killing a snake—hold it by the tail, crack it like a whip and break its back.

The youth tried with a dead brown snake four feet long. The reptile's head flew off and hit Widdup in the face, imbedding the fangs in his forehead.

"I don't think I'll use the whiplash method again," said Widdup after a night in the hospital under observation.

McKee Named Bethel Prexy

James E. McKee, former principal of Obion County Central High School, has been appointed president of Bethel College, beginning the first of the year. Mr. McKee will succeed Dr. J. A. Barksdale, formerly of Union City, who became interim president last January following the death of the late Dr. Roy N. Baker. At the close of the interim period on Jan. 1, Mr. Barksdale will resume his duties as Professor of Education, a position he held previous to his appointment by the Board of Trustees as interim president.

Mr. Barksdale served as superintendent of Union City schools from 1946 until 1948 and, shortly after leaving Union City, became Tennessee's Commissioner of Education.

The announcement of the appointment of Mr. McKee was made by Owen Howell, president of the Board of Trustees at Bethel. According to Mr. Howell, Mr. McKee will begin serving his appointment the first of January, but will not assume full duties until June 1, 1970.

Mr. McKee, a 1948 graduate of Bethel College, holds the MA degree (1949) from George Peabody College and has done additional graduate work at the University of Tennessee. He is currently completing residence and course requirements for a doctor's degree in Educational Administration at Memphis State University. His schedule calls for the completion of all but dissertation requirements by June of 1970.

Legislators Preview Task Of Passing Farm Tax Law

FRANKFORT, Ky.

Many legislators appeared to learn for the first time Thursday about the laborious job ahead of them in enacting a law to implement the new constitutional amendment on farm taxes.

But the Interim Legislative Committee on Appropriations and Revenue told the Legislative Research Committee (LRC) to press ahead with the study needed to draft a bill to put into effect the amendment approved by the voters Nov. 4.

Their decision came after Revenue Commissioner James E. Luckett told them of some of the difficulties involved and commented the legislature might not be able to come to grips with it in the 1970 session. If the legislation were not enacted until the 1972 session, it could not take effect before Jan. 1, 1973.

In reply to a comment by State Sen. Romano Mazzoli, D-Louisville, that he should have mentioned the difficulties earlier, Luckett replied the amendment did not have a high priority until after it passed.

In addition to discussing the amendment question, the committee voted 10-7 along party lines to recommend that the LRC subpoena initial budget requests of all state agencies for legislative study.

The 10 Democratic votes in favor of the proposal were in sharp contrast to the usual Democratic opposition to very similar moves by GOP legislators when a Democrat sits in the governor's chair.

In the past, Democratic governors have succeeded in beating back such moves by GOP legislators. Governors usually prefer not to give out such budgetary information so legislators will be in a less favorable position to take the document apart.

The committee also voted to eliminate the five per cent motor vehicle usage tax on the transfer of motor vehicles in cases in which no money changes hands. The proposal would cover corporations which change names as well as transfers within a family, which is the only part of the matter previously supported by Gov. Louie B. Nunn.

On the constitutional amendment allowing farm land to be assessed for tax purposes at its value for farming instead of its market value, Luckett suggested consideration be given to: — Identifying what property is involved; that is, its proximity to an urban area or interstate highway interchange and what constitutes an urban area. — Setting out how its value as a farm is to be evaluated, whether by size, farm income or to apply to "every taxpayer who owns a cow near a city."

— Having a record made of how much the market value of the land exceeds its farm value, so a ready determination could be made on picking up the higher tax if the land ceased to be a farm.

— How the tax burden is to be shifted, a result which Luckett said followed by "hard logic" if part of the tax base used to support local government is eliminated.

— Perhaps having the person seeking the tax break to apply for it rather than to have "blanket coverage" and perhaps to require public notice of the application because of its effect on other taxpayers.

It also should be made clear, Luckett said, that the change in tax assessments could not become effective Jan. 1, 1970, since the legislature does not convene until Jan. 6.

Blood, Entrails Dumped On Table Of Recruiters

DETROIT — Animal blood and fowl entrails were dumped on military recruiting material in the lobby of the University of Detroit Student Union Tuesday.

A witness said six young men formed a line in front of the Navy and Marine recruiters' tables and dumped the blood and intestines on the literature and posters on display. The men then fled.

Navy Lt. Joseph Petlow was standing nearby.

Cotton Velvet: A Natural For Holiday Wear

CHAINED VELVET—Rose-colored cotton velvet is Cinderella's choice for a grown-up looking party dress with shaping and seaming. A gold body chain reflects the warm velvet color, and tapered sleeves are formed with a hint of a crown at top.

Holidays and cotton velvet just naturally go together... and this Christmas, velvet dresses are the going thing for party-bound girls of all sizes and ages.

With grown-up looks and grown-up ideas prevailing in children's wear, the generation gap has narrowed in fashions. As a result, what's party-fair for big sister is ditto for little sister, too.

Cotton velvets and velvet-trimmed lace are big in both categories. In some, the velvet-y look goes demure with high-necked dresses characterized by pleated lace collars and long puffy sleeves. In others, the look is more sophisticated with simple styling set off by gold body chains that reflect the warm velvet colorings.

Shapes with closer-to-the-body fit include dropped waists, simple A-lines, and natural waists that are belted, sashed or bowed.

Even the pantsuit look for party time is carried over into little girls' holiday styles. Here, however, the age difference is reflected in the styling. Pantsuits for the very young retain a more feminine mood with wide lace cuffs on straight-legged pants that match the covering dress.

Bright reds, blues, and midnight black are favorite colors for the sumptuous holiday velvets.

DEMURE—Glowing cotton velvet with its flatteringly shadowy surface makes a youthful holiday party dress. By Emma Domb, it's styled with a high-necked lace collar and long puffy sleeves.

MSU Budget Set For State Review

MURRAY, Ky., Nov. 21—Murray State University's proposed budget for the next biennium includes state appropriation requests of $12,489,980 for 1970-71 and $14,371,592 for 1971-72.

Submitted to the state Council on Public Higher Education for review in Frankfort Friday, the requests are part of a total budget amounting to $18,558,700 for 1970-71 and $20,685,900 for 1971-72.

Dr. Harry M. Sparks, university president, said approval of the budget request "will enable Murray State University to accomplish its responsibilities during the next biennium."

Following the council's review, the budget request will be forwarded to the state department of finance and to the governor for use in the preparation of a state general fund biennium budget for consideration by the 1970 legislature.

State appropriations to Murray State for the current biennium are $6,214,220 for 1968-69 and $8,152,050 for 1969-70. Total budgets for the two years are $13,237,489 and $14,263,230.

Estimated income from fees and auxiliary enterprises are added to the state appropriations to provide a total income picture for each biennium year.

Dr. Sparks noted that the budget request is based on a projected enrollment increase of 5 per cent for each biennium year. The average annual full-time-equivalent enrollment increase each fall of the five-year period from 1965 through 1969 has been 7.8 per cent at Murray State.

He said the "changing face" of the university points up the necessity for budget increases and made specific mention of the need to compete salarywise to attract and to retain competent faculty, especially those with doctoral degrees, and the higher debt service expense brought on by several campus construction projects.

"More than 54 per cent of the student enrollment is now at the upper division and graduate levels," he explained. "This changing enrollment pattern necessitates a more highly trained faculty than in former years."

He said salary levels figured in the budget for faculty are based upon the median salaries of comparable "benchmark" institutions in North Carolina and the seven states which border Kentucky.

Debt service estimates have nearly tripled, he emphasized, in the span of time between preparation of the last two biennial budgets. Total debt service in 1968-69 was $755,733 and in 1969-70 is $757,393—compared to requests for the coming biennium of $1,988,578 and $1,922,737.

He listed four projects which he said attribute to the higher debt service—a seven-story general classroom building, an 11-story addition to the fine arts building, an academic-athletic complex, and a general services building.

"Buildings to be completed before the end of the next biennium also contribute to a higher operational and maintenance expense for physical facilities," he continued.

Dr. Sparks listed these other factors involved in the proposed budget increase:

—Need for improved student services in areas such as health, library, a university ombudsman, counseling, and an expanding computer center.

—More faculty personnel to provide for enrollment increases and to reduce the faculty-student ratio, particularly at the upper division and graduate levels.

—Higher costs for equipment, instructional materials and services.

—Loss of revenue because of reduction in the number of out-of-state students.

He said health service personnel at the university will be doubled to include two physicians and four registered nurses.

Girl Scouts View Apollo Launch

CAPE KENNEDY SPACE CENTER, Nov. 18—Miss Rita McDaniel of Hillcrest, Mayfield, has arrived home from Cape Kennedy, Fla., where she was one of 130 Girl Scouts who viewed the Apollo 12 launch as special guests of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"It was the greatest experience of my short lifetime," said the local Senior Girl Scout. In addition to the excitement of watching the launching of America's second manned trip to the moon, the girls were thrilled to have had the honor of occupying the VIP "bleachers" in the NASA viewing area only a few feet away from President Nixon.

The President expressed his pleasure at seeing "so many, good patriotic youngsters," such as the Girl Scouts and the representative of other NASA-invited youth groups who were assigned seats on either side of the presidential party. Mrs. Nixon, honorary president of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., was especially pleased to have Girl Scouts as her viewing neighbors at the launch as was daughter, Tricia, herself a former Girl Scout.

Miss McDaniel reports that in the tense half hour before the launch the girls, in the scout tradition, joined softly in the singing of patriotic and Girl Scout songs, and their voices were background accompaniments to a number of TV interviews of the presidential party and to the NASA announcements on the progress of the countdown. The girls' excitement over their closeup view of the historic launch was heightened when the President sent a secret service man to tell the Girl Scouts how much the President had enjoyed their singing.

Although launchday downpours drenched the youthful visitors,

Tobacco Growers To Sue Networks

LEXINGTON, Ky. — A group of 25 Kentucky burley tobacco farmers angered by anti-cigarette commercials on television plans to file a multi-million dollar lawsuit next week against all three major networks—NBC, CBS and ABC.

Robert Odear, attorney representing the farmers, said Friday night that the plaintiffs will ask that the court grant injunctions against the three networks to "restrain them from broadcasting false and scurrilous advertisements directed at the destruction of the tobacco industry."

While no specific amount of damages was announced, Odear said the growers would ask for "several million dollars."

He added, "These ads say 'cigarettes are killers,' but nobody's ever proven that cigarettes are killers—it is a distortion of the facts."

Twenty-five tobacco growers from the burley area of the state are the plaintiffs in the suit, and the attorney said that if other tobacco growers in other areas—such as dark-leaf and flue-cured leaf raisers—want to join the suit "we'd welcome them."

Asked if the associations which produce anti-smoking commercials—such as the American Cancer Society—would be named defendants in the action, Odear said that his plaintiffs' "present inclination is to just sue the networks."

"We can prove, we have statistics," said Odear, "to show what has happened to the income of the burley farmers through the sale of their cash crop as a result of these advertisements."

Wreck Fatal To SF Man

A South Fulton man who became a father for the first time only two weeks ago was killed about 2:30 Thursday afternoon when the truck he was driving collided with another truck on Highway 22, between Martin and Dresden, at the intersection of the Adams Chapel Road four miles east of Martin.

The fatality was identified as Ronald Lee House, 23, an employee of the Weakley County Farmers Co-op at Martin, who was reported en route to Palmersville with a load of feed. His truck collided with another truck, owned by the City of Martin, and two employees of the city were injured and taken to a Martin hospital. The men were identified as Arnold Bonnah and Max Day. Information regarding how the accident occurred and the condition of the two injured men was not available today.

Services for Mr. House will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Cuba, Ky., Baptist Church. The Rev. Charles Nelson will officiate and burial will be in Cuba Cemetery with Jackson Funeral Home of Duketown in charge.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sherri Wiley House; his infant son, Brad Dwan House; his parents, Martin Lee House and Mrs. Ed Whittington, both of Detroit, Mich.; three brothers, Allen House, Bobby House and Norman House, all of Detroit; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Collier of Martin and Mrs. Ed Berry and Miss Bonita House, both of Detroit, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest House of Martin.

companies writing 40 per cent of such policies in the state.

The new hikes apply only to passenger cars and do not affect bodily injury or medical benefits.

The only geographic exception in the new set of rates is a minor reduction for Eastern Kentucky counties.

Commissioner Robert Preston said Thursday that the increases will become effective Dec. 3, as will the decreases in

Costly Fire In Greenfield

Fire of undetermined origin struck the Greenfield plant of Callins Industries late Sunday afternoon, leaving behind as much as $750,000 in damage. A plant spokesman said that when loss of business was added on, the blaze would cost the company in excess of $1,000,000.

Greenfield Fire Chief W. H. Dudley said the first alarm was received about 4:45 p.m. Sunday when a passerby noticed smoke pouring from the rear of the building.

The Greenfield Fire Department answered the alarm and was joined around 6 p.m. by units from Bradford, Sharon, Dresden and McKenzie. The neighboring departments remained on the scene until the blaze was under control shortly after 9 p.m. The Greenfield firemen had a pumper and crew still on the site at noon today as the debris was still smoldering and small blazes were flaring up in the midst of the burned-out section.

Clayton E. Lockhart, vice president of the electronics firm, said half of the facility was burned to the ground and that the rest of the plant suffered heavy smoke damage. Fire Chief Dudley estimated the size of the burned-out building at 100 by 200 feet.

Eastern Kentucky. Affected by the action are 210 firms belonging to the Insurance Rating Board.

Preston estimated the new rates would yield $732,000 a year extra for the companies.

Earlier this year the board asked for an annual across-the-board increase of 8.7 per cent for property-damage liability.

The Insurance Department said it denied that request because investment income received by the firms from their policyholder money had not been considered in the filing.

Preston said the difference between the rates requested and those granted was due to the investment-income factor.

As for collision coverage, the companies already had received an increase of 8 per cent a year in that class last June.

The bulk of the new boost affects autos driven by a husband and wife with no drivers under 25 when cars are used mainly for pleasure.

The basic minimum coverage is $10,000 maximum per person and $20,000 per accident for bodily injury—plus $5,000 maximum for property damage in a single accident.

British Satellite

Orbits Earth

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — Britain's first military communications satellite orbited the earth today, maneuvering into position for a critical Sunday motor firing that is expected to kick it on permanent station over the Indian Ocean.

Launched late Friday, the $5 million spacecraft named Sky-net is expected to speed secret military messages between the defense bases or battlefield units as far apart as England and Singapore.

The 535-pound, drum-shaped satellite was designed so it could operate in cooperation with U.S. military satellite systems.
